TEN DAYS FOR WORK!

Our citizens, without distinction of party, concede that the Republican demonstration on Wednesday night, eclipsed every political display ever seen in Milwaukee. The procession, not in numbers only, but in character, as well as in the multitude and significance of the banners, transparencies and devices, far exceeded expectation. It was a magnificent show and while it roused, to the highest pitch, the enthusiasm of our friends, it blasted the few remaining hopes of our opponents.

But the work of the campaign is not yet over. Let no Republican rest from his labors until the battle is fought and won.—TEN DAYS remain to us for the all-important business of ORGANIZATION. Let these be fully and faithfully employed. We must have every Republican vote polled on the sixth of November! See to it, friends, that there is no man missing on that eventful day!

Potter, of Wisconsin.

We have the most cheering accounts from the District represented by this gallant Republican. Without any assistance from abroad, he has made a splendid canvass, meeting and overcoming the arguments of his opponents at every point. The Chivalry had set their hearts upon his defeat. We have been assured that large sums of money have been sent in to his District for that express purpose, which doubtless came directly out of Virginia pockets. This money has been faithfully expended, but, as the end will prove, without the hoped for results. His majority will be larger than ever before. Wisconsin owes it to herself, as well as to her gallant representative, to meet this shameless outside interference, with a majority so overwhelming that the attempt will never be repeated: and we are glad to learn that such is the intention of her people.—Chicago Press & Tribune.

No man in this district entertains any doubt of JOHN F. POTTER's re-election. If the full Republican vote is polled, his majority will be counted by thousands. We trust that no honorable effort will be spared to make that majority overwhelming. Let no Republican fail to vote! Let there be none missing at the roll-call on the 6th of November. We have but TEN DAYS left for work. Let these be well employed. "Up Guards! and at them!"

The Vote of Ohio.

We have at length the full official vote of the State at the late election. We give the details in another column. The entire vote for Supreme Judge amounts to 412,704—an increase of nearly 57,000 from last year. The majority for Brinkerhoff, who is slightly behind the rest of the ticket, is 12,004 over Smith, to whom there was a complete fusion of the three parties opposed to the Republicans. The plurality for Murray for Attorney General, is 25,278, and his absolute majority over the combined Democratic and Union vote, is 15,639. Bargeni, for Member of the Board of Public Works, has a plurality of 24,840, and a clear majority of 15,454. The average Republican plurality is 21,874, and the average majority over all opposition, 15,482.—Cincinnati Gazette, Oct. 24.

This is doing very well for October. But in November, the "Buckeyes" propose to add another ten thousand to their majority, making Ohio 25,000 for LINCOLN and HAMLIN.

Pennsylvania.

The Republican majority in Pennsylvania on Members of Congress is 47,792. This is within about 2,308 of what will be ABRAHAM LINCOLN's majority on the 6th of the coming month.

MR. DOUGLAS IN MILWAUKEE.—The Washington correspondent of the New York Herald, under date of Oct. 22d, writes as follows:

"The speech of Senator Douglas at Milwaukee is regarded here as showing to what lengths a Longboy can draw his string. He is a first rate story teller, and can draw up imaginary conversations equal to Sandys. The only thing they want is a seasoning of truth."

We supposed at the time, that the "conversation" which Mr. D. related, as having occurred between President BUCHANAN and himself, in regard to the Lecompton Constitution, was an "imagina ry" one; and the Herald's correspondent confirms this beli ef.

GETTING SENSIBLE.—The New York Herald, which has persistently predicted commercial panics, dissolution and civil war, as the inevitable result of Mr. LINCOLN's election, has at length made the important discovery that Mr. LINCOLN is a conservative, Union-loving man. It concedes his election as "inevitable" and says:

"It appears that Old Abe is a conservative Republican—that he contemplates no war upon the constitutional rights of slavery in the Slave States—that his platform is the Chicago platform in good faith, and that his general policy upon Slavery will be to conciliate the South into subjection, instead of exasperating her people into open rebellion. His Cabinet too, will be made up of Northern and Southern men."

The Evening Post says it would not be surprised to see the Herald soon become the advocate of LINCOLN's election.

NEBRASKA.—The Nebraska City Press, of the 16th inst., asserts that returns of the recent election for Congress have been received at Omaha from all the settled and organized counties in the Territory, and that DAILY (Republican) is re-elected by 163 majority. The Press intimates that fraudulent means are being used, as in 1858—to obtain the certificate for Mr. MORTON. The Legislature is Republican in both branches—Council, 7 Republicans, 6 Democrats; House, 5 or 6 Republican majority.

LARGE RECEIPTS OF SILVER IN ENGLAND.—The steamer, Farmanian arrived at Southampton, England, on the 1st of the month. She had on board $5,662,000 in silver from the West Indies and Mexico. It was contained in 2,168 packages, was landed in seven hours, and deposited in 36 railway wagons, drawn by two engines. At London it was transferred to 36 street wagons and was drawn by one hundred horses. It took seven hours to receive the whole in the vaults of the Bank of England.

DEAD BODIES FOUND.—Two dead bodies were found on the shore of the Lake near the piers, in this city on Wednesday last. They were the bodies of men which had evidently, from their appearance, been in water from four to six weeks, and were doubtless, two of the ill-fated passengers of the steamer Lady Elgin, lost some five or six weeks since, and cast upon this shore be the prevailing winds. It is highly probable that there are other bodies, yet missing, thrown upon this shore of the lake. One of the bodies was 5 feet 10 inches high; about thirty five or forty years old; had on a black frock coat, fine kip boots, figured marseilles vest, and linen shirt; no valuables, and no marks by which the body might be farther identified. The other was about forty years of age; 5 feet, 7 inches high, light complexion, thick set, heavily made; had on brown cassimere pants, with side stripe, black silk cravat, shirt with marseilles bosom, grained leather shoes, gray woolen socks, white tops; no valuable except a black leather port monaie, containing one postage stamp, a two bladed ivory handle knife, both sides broken, a four fold ivory 12 inch rule, and a steel drafting scale four inches long. An inquest was held over the bodies, and a verdict rendered in accordance with the above facts.—Mich. City Enterprise, 20th.

A Grand Proposition.

The captain of the Monroe (Wis) Wide Awakes makes the following startling proposition, which is worthy of consideration by all the Wide Awakes in the State:

To the Wide Awakes of Wisconsin:

As the election of Honest Abraham Lincoln—for which we have so long and so arduously toiled—is reduced to an absolute certainty, by the glorious results so recently achieved along the Ohio River and among the Alleghanies, it is proper that we should commence arrangements for a Jubilee on a magnificent scale, to come off soon after the November election; and I submit for your consideration a proposition which is eminently practicable, and the results of which will be grand beyond description.

My proposition is, to hold a convention of encampment of all the Wide Awake companies in this State—with such of our brothers as may join us from Northern Illinois and a portion of Iowa—at the highest central point within our State; that point is Blue Mounds. Each company provide itself with tents and camp furniture, and each can furnish a barrel of tar, while a few barrels of salt petre can be obtained with the proceeds of a general fund raised by subscription among our members.

With these we can raise a flame from the highest point of Blue Mound which can be seen from fifty to one hundred miles in every direction. We can have our orators, glee clubs, and bands of music, and while thousands and tens of thousands of the inhabitants of this and adjoining States are crowding the house tops and hill tops to gaze with admiration on Freedom's glorious beacon flame, our convention can enjoy one of the grandest feasts of reason that ever made glad the hearts of men.

What say you, brother Wide Awakes?

E. BARTLETT,
Captain Monroe Wide Awakes.

Attempted Fusion in Ohio.

Correspondence Cincinnati Commercial.

COLUMBUS, Oct. 22.

The attempt at fusion by the Douglas Democratic managers to-day was a failure. Only six of the twenty one composing the Douglas State Central Committee, were present, and none of the Breckinridge or Bell Committees. Those present were Mampeny, of Franklin; O'Neill, of Muskingum; Stout, of Monroe; Cass, of Coshocton; Mount, of Cincinnati; and Armstrong, of Seneca.

Only four Douglas Electors present—Darbin, of Erie, Flagg, of Cincinnati; Foss, of Preble, and Mr. Stayman, of Delaware.

The meeting was held with closed doors, and proceedings kept quiet; but it is known that nothing was done for want of a quorum; and after much discussion, those present determined it was too late to try and do anything.

So there will probably be no further attempt to get the Committee together with a view to fusion, and the project is abandoned.

AWFUL OCCURRENCE.—A heart-rending tragedy occurred at Rock Grove on Tuesday evening of last week. The circumstances, as we learn them, are as follows: It appears that a German hired man in the employ of a of a respected widow lady, had made proposals of marriage to his employer which she had rejected. The German under the impression that she was receiving attentions from another, had vowed the destruction of his rival.

On Tuesday last, early in the evening, Dr. Bachman, of Rock Grove, a young and esteemed physician, called at the house of the widow lady on his way home to procure a quantity of flour for his family. The Ger man mistaking Dr. Bachman for his supposed rival, stationed himself at the door, armed with a butcher knife. When the Dr. came he attacked him, stabbing him several times in the breast, once through the arm, and drawing the knife across his back. inflicted a frightful wound, from which, on one side, the kidney protruded through the gash. The German, on finding that he had attacked the wrong man, went for another physician, to whom he stated that Dr. Bachman had been attacked by robbers and cut almost to pieces. The excited manner of the man led the physician to suspect something wrong, and to disbelieve his story, and he did not go until the next morning, when he was sent for.

The Dr. still lives, but his recovery is among remote possibilities. He is much respected, and a promising physician. He is a brother of Mr. John Bachman, formerly of this place, and has a wife and child residing at Rock Grove.

The German was promptly arrested and taken to Freeport jail. Soon after his incarceration he tore up a sheet, made a rope and hung himself, and was found dead in his cell. The horrible affair has caused great excitement in Rock Grove and vicinity.—Monroe Sentinel, 24th.

PARTICULARS OF THE MASSACRE OF THE EMIGRANT TRAIN.—Our dispatches from St. Joseph, Mo, on the 22d, stated that an emigrant train had been captured, and the emigrants murdered by the Snake Indians. The dispatches to the New York papers are fuller, from which we obtain the following particulars:

Mr. H. Schoiber had just arrived from Yreka with news of the massacre by the Snake Indians, of an entire emigrant train, consisting of 44 persons, 19 of whom were men, the balance women and children.

The party were first attacked about fifty miles on the west side of Salmon Falls, on the 9th of September. This attack lasted about one hour. The Indians then withdrew, and allowed the train to proceed five miles. They then again attacked them.—The fight lasted two days and one night. On the afternoon of the 10th, the Indians had possession of the train, with the exception of six men, who, being mounted, escaped. After traveling through the woods for nine days, these six were again attacked, and five of the party killed. Schoiber alone escaped by hiding in the bushes. After traveling for seven days without food, he was found in an exhausted condition by some persons who took him to the Dalles. Of the nineteen males in the party, six were discharged soldiers from Fort Hall. Mr. Schoiber is the only one who escaped. He says that the six men who left on horseback did not leave until the Indians had full possession of the train, and from the screams of the women and children, he was led to believe that the whole party were murdered.

DESPERATE ATTEMPT TO KILL.—A. F. Baily, a colored barber of Elmira, N. Y., made a desperate attempt to shoot George Goings, a colored porter at the Brainard House, on Wednesday evening. Cause—the goings of George in reference to Bailey's "domestic peace." The attempt was made at the depot, and Goings' hat was damaged by a ball—nothing more. Bailey was arrested. He was laboring under the most intense excitement, and eagerly inquired if Goings was dead. On being informed in the negative, he became almost frantic with disappointment—exclaiming, "Oh! my God! is it possible I have not lodged a ball in him?" He said if he could only kill Goings, he would feel willing to be hung the next minute!

EAT APPLES.—A raw mellow apple, says Hall's Journal of Health, is digested in an hour and a half, while boiled cabbage requires five hours. The most healthful desert which can be placed on the table is baked apple. If taken freely at breakfast, with coarse bread and butter without meat or flesh of any kind, it has an admirable effect on the general system, often removing constipation, correcting acidities and cooling off febrile conditions, more effectually than the most approved medicine. The planteous crop should make the apple cheap.

MASS MEETING AT EAST TROY.—There will be a Republican mass meeting at East Troy, October 20. Hon. JNO. F. POTTER and Gov. A. W. RANDALL will address the meeting.

THE PROCESSION AND THE SENTINEL OFFICE.—We had made all our arrangements Wednesday night, to illuminate the SENTINEL Office, in honor of the Republican demonstration, that evening. But learning from the Marshal that the procession would not pass through East Water Street, the illumination and fireworks were transferred to the residences of the proprietors and editors. When, therefore, by a change of the programme the procession DID pass by our office, there was nobody there to welcome them and no illumination in their honor. We deem this explanation due to the thousands of good Republicans who missed the looked-for lights of the SENTINEL and who, as they passed, honored the editors and proprietor, with their hearty cheers.

MUNICIPAL COURT, Oct. 25th.—John Kuntzberger, assault and battery; defendant discharged and complainant made to pay the costs.

Dennis Kane and Ed. Burke, disorderly. Both of these men were arrested on Wednesday night by Chief of Police Beck, for disorderly conduct in disturbing the torchlight procession. Kane is complained of for having thrown a brick or missile, and hitting Dick Westlake, who was in the procession, upon the head. Burke is complained of for having used insulting and ruffianly language which had a tendency to create a disturbance. On being arraigned by the Court, Mr. Doran appeared for the defendants, and requested a continuation till a week from yesterday, as some friends of defendants who were lost on the Lady Elgin had been found, and they were desirous to continue it on that account.

The Court so ordered, and that the prisoners give bail in the sum of $50, and be kept in charge of officer till paid.

Wm. Felson, drunk. Fined $2 and cost.

A HANDSOME COMPLIMENT.—Just as our Milwaukee "Wide Awakes," on their return from escorting the Madison "Wide Awakes" to the cars, yesterday morning, reached the Huron street bridge, the U. S. Revenue Cutter A. V. Brown, with all sail set, passed through the draw. The American Cornet Band immediately struck up "The Star Spangled Banner," and the "boys" gave the cutter three hearty cheers with a will. Captain MITCHELL and D. BOND, who were on board the Cutter, acknowledged the compliment by raising their caps and dipping their colors.

TOTAL NUMBER OF WIDE-AWAKES IN THE PROCESSION WEDNESDAY NIGHT.—The following is the number of Wide Awakes in the procession. It will be remembered that there were over two thousand other torches carried by the various clubs and by citizens:

Milwaukee Wide Awake Co.,	250	men.

AN ARRIVAL AT DAYLIN'S.—FRANK DAYLIN received yesterday, at his saloon on Main street, opposite the Newhall House, an invoice of old wines, choice liquors and favorite cigars, to which he invites the attention of connoisseurs. FRANK deals only in the genuine article and what he says may always be relied on.

The Horicon Railroad Difficulty on the Street Corners.

Messrs. Smith and Blossom Entertain the Public.

For several days a man has exhibited himself about the corner of East Water and Wisconsin streets, with both legs amputated, walking upon the stumps, and bearing a placard on his breast and back, with the following printed thereon:

TO THE PUBLIC.

I LOST MY LEGS IN THE EMPLOY OF THE MILWAUKEE AND HORICON R. R. COMPANY,
J. B. SMITH, President.

They owed me at the time my legs were smashed about $23, and for wages earned since the loss of my legs about $116.

I have repeatedly urged Messrs. Smith, Vliet and Mason to pay me, in order to help me get a pair of cork legs. To this request, they offered to vend me to the poor house.

Would they but pay me the money long since earned, I would not now be compelled to appeal to the sympathy of the public, to help me. JOHN QUINN.

Mr. J. B. SMITH, hearing of the exhibition, yesterday met the man and offered him five dollars to let him make a public speech by his side. QUINN consented and the two proceeded to the corner in front of the Juneau Bank and mounted a dry goods box, where Mr. SMITH proceeded to explain matters in a very able and convincing speech. He pointed to the placard on the back of the man by his side, and said that he did not blame Mr. QUINN for seeking to make something out of the calamity, but that he knew that the whole affair eminated from the Custom House—from Judge MILLER and Mr. LEVI BLOSSOM. He alluded to the placard in no honied terms, as an attempt to blacken and defame his character by the pro consul of the Bastile, or his tools. Mr. SMITH spoke for over half an hour on the corner, to a crowd of citizens, explaining the Railroad difficulty, and announcing that he was ready to answer any questions that might be put to him. No questions, however, were asked, and Mr. SMITH, having fully laid the matter open, paid the man the five dollars and descended.

Not long after, another crowd collected on the same spot, among whom were Messrs. BLOSSOM and MASON. The two latter gentlemen commenced an argument, suggested by Mr. J. B. SMITH's public peroration, and from an argument they got into a quarrel, and in a promiscuous attempt to pull noses and slap faces, were arrested by the Chief of Police, and taken to the Station House.

Mr. BLOSSOM, however, shortly after reappeared, and taking his stand on the door-stop of the Juneau Bank, proceeded to vindicate himself and the poor cripple beneath him, in a plain and unanswerable manner.

Mr. BLOSSOM was not at all backward in replying to Mr. SMITH. He showed in a few words and a dispassionate manner, that the unfortunate subject before him had been most inhumanly treated by the officers of the road, who had refused to pay him his wages; and in reply to his importunities for aid, to get a pair of cork legs, had offered to send him to the poor house.

"If there is any odium," said Mr. BLOSSOM, "if there is any disgrace in having helped this poor man, or in having sided him in his appeals for sympathy to the public, when those who should have helped him, have spurned him, I am willing to bear it. I am only sorry Mr. SMITH is not here to hear me. These miserable scoundrels who ride in their coaches and build palaces, but are unwilling to pay their employees their honest dues, ought to be told the truth occasionally.

"What is there in this placard to give offence. It says that JOHN QUINN lost his legs in the employ of the Horicon Road, of which J. B. SMITH was President. Is there anything objectionable in that, or is it the fact which is objectionable? Look at this man, gentlemen, he is a sensible man, and a man of sensibilities. Is the scoundrel printed on his brow? Is the swindler seen in his eye? looks he like a brigand in the face? Is he half as much of a villian in looks as J. B. SMITH?"

Several invisible gentlemen answered "No;" and one visible man had the boldness to add with unction "No Sir-ee!"

Meanwhile the cripple, Mr. QUINN, made his way through the crowd to give the by-standers an opportunity of examining his brow and face, and Mr. BLOSSOM continued his remarks.

This is a new phaze in the Railroad war. It is an improvement in many senses. It gives one an opportunity to judge of the relative oratorical powers of the parties.—Mr. SMITH has a good voice and when he shook defiance at the "Pro Consul of the Bastile," (poetical for Judge MILLER), the effect on the draymen and politicians about the corners, was quite apparent.

Mr. LEVI BLOSSOM may not have so good a voice, but he "rather had him" on one or two points—the "$20,000 in that safe" was a telling hit. Mr. SMITH stood on a dry goods box, and Mr. BLOSSOM didn't. Mr. SMITH paid five dollars for his speech, Mr. The whole affair was very novel and BLOSSOM didn't.

highly edifying. When next these gentlemen hold forth, may we be there to see and hear.

FUNERAL OF MASTER GEO. P. ARNOLD.—The funeral of GEO. P. ARNOLD, who was lost in the "Lady Elgin," took place yesterday at 2 o'clock, from the residence of his father. The funeral service was read by Rev. J. C. RICHMOND. A very large concourse of friends, among whom were many of the Milwaukee Bar, attended the corpse to the Forest Home. The members of Supply Hose also accompanied the hearse, forming a hollow square about it, preceded by the American Cornet Band.

Little GEORGE was an universal favorite. In every circle where his bright face was ever known and welcomed, there are mourners now. Even the firemen miss his innocent companionship, and the noble fellows followed, with a true sorrow, the inanimate form to its last resting place.

Perhaps as large a concourse of friends never before followed to the tomb, in Milwaukee, the body of a child, and the spectacle only attests the universal love which every one bore him, and the deep sincere sympathy for the afflicted family.

REPUBLICANS DRESSING UP.—Those who saw J—— yesterday in a "bran new" suit were anxious to learn the how and wherefore. To all enquiries J. only said, "Got it on Pennsylvania!"

H—— struts about in a "bran new" hat, and the only satisfaction that has been obtained is "Pennsylvania."

The fact is, Republicans are dressing up. Several of our acquaintances are sporting boots, coats and "tiles" which they connect, in some mysterious way, with Indiana.

After November next we may expect to see all our Republican friends attired in costly "rigs," not from Pennsylvania only, but from New York and Illinois and Wisconsin. Let those who select their cloth beforehand select LINCOLN GREEN.

ELGIN RELIEF FUND.—The following sums have been contributed to this fund:

Milwaukee, as Seen by a Cleveland Editor.

Editorial Correspondence of the Cleveland Herald.

NEWHALL HOUSE,
MILWAUKEE, WIS, Oct. 22d.

OLD ROUND TABLE:—In my last from Chicago, I should not have omitted to say that in response to a complimentary mention of Cleveland by the resolutions of the Chicago Board of Trade, Mayor Senter thanked the Board for the kind allusion to the city he represented. In this connection, your correspondent may very properly say that our Mayor, during his entire official course, has, with a liberality few gentlemen would be willing to show, discharged what may be called the honors of Cleveland with great credit to the city, and without any stint of personal time and money; and so important are such things to reputation abroad, that such exertions should be properly appreciated.

The very ample arrangements made by Mr. Baldwin, of the Chicago and Milwaukee road, brought the party by rapid run to this beautiful city, for comfortable bed-hour on Saturday night.

The "produce men" of Milwaukee, in their greetings of the Philadelphia party, have completely eclipsed previous points. It will do for me to say so, being an "outsider." But, not only did the Chamber of Commerce throw open the magnificent Newhall House to their guests, but a committee—Messrs. Hooker and Barclay—met the party on the line, and escorted them to their quarters. The Newhall House is so famous that it needs no word of praise, but certain it is, much of first impressions on reaching city depends upon the hotel, and the elegance and luxuriousness of this House, and the admirable manner of its management, at once gave a charm to Milwaukee in the eyes of the Philadelphians that will follow them through their entire Western trip Clevelanders, too, are made particularly happy at the Newhall by a greeting from Mr. Brown, formerly so important an element in the Angier House.

Milwaukee is yet in its first grief over the loss of some three hundred of its citizens by the dreadful Lady Elgin calamity. One Ward in particular, in which an Irish military company lost on that boat, belonged, has in it more houses of mourning than of those not stricken by the calamity.

This city is rapidly reviving from the depression that so much weighed down western towns for the past three years, and the number of fine buildings now going up is astonishing. One would only know from "hearsay" that there had been any check. As showing how good comes out of what we call evil, we may mention the fact that the great reduction of rents for houses and other buildings has enticed in a very great flow of industrious inhabitants, who are fast filling up the vacancies produced by the reverse of '57. Nice brick houses that three years since commanded a rental of four hundred dollars, are now obtained by respectable tenants for one hundred to one hundred and fifty dollars. Stores and business blocks have come down in proportion. And yet, despite all that, the city is making many first class improvements; the cheapness of materials and labor enabling capitalists to build with great of saving money over former prices. All evidences of depression will soon vanish, except, perhaps, in localities removed from the business center, and where undue stimulus had tempted an investment ahead of the times.

Milwaukee, in her produce receipts, comes up to about 100,000 bushels daily; her streets in the vicinity of the grain warehouses are daily blocked by teams loaded with grain, and even the high freights do not furnish a needful supply of vessels. A Cleveland gentleman has just dispatched a vessel to Oswego with a freight list reaching $4,000; and that, too, at a price contracted for a week since. What will be the state of matters when navigation shall have closed, can hardly be imagined, unless the railroads actually decline the transportation of produce into the city. The Chicago & Milwaukee Railroad, however, will, before close of navigation, have its track at Chicago connected with an Eastern line, so that freight can go through from this point to Cleveland, Pittsburgh, &c., without breaking bulk—a very important fact, that measureably will relieve the plethora that must rest upon the warehouses at this point.

Milwaukee is a beautiful city; its superior, in that regard, not existing on this great lake chain. In its location above the water, and in its soil—not excepting summer dust—it is very like Cleveland. But it has not such a line of demarkation between its upper and lower town as with Cleveland. Here the high ground more gradually descends to the river, and it has no immense gulf dividing its parts as yawns between Cleveland's East and West sides. This may or may not prove an advantage over our city; time and development of trade and commerce can only determine that question. Milwaukee has but few, if any residences that bear comparison with the most elegant that adorn Euclid street; yet it has many more snug, comfortable, tasteful and available residences than Cleveland, and is a much better built town—especially its business blocks.

The brick of Milwaukee gives an air of elegance to the blocks that few towns, by the same outlay of money, can have. And yet, while saying this, the fact is apparent all over this city, that the yellow or drab brick without adornment makes very cheap looking buildings. An ornate style of architecture is absolutely necessary, but an expensive display of taste is not necessary, and hence a cornice and window cap, affording a decided contrast to the walls, very easily relieve the complexion of the brick from a cheap look.

After an inspection of Chicago and Milwaukee, we would say that the former attracts as a place of business, while the latter charms as a place of residence. In Chicago, people stay and drive themselves from morning until night; in Milwaukee they live more reasonably fast, and take comfort. We speak merely from external appearances, not from having an inside knowledge of either city. If the chief end of man was to go ahead; to be continually under high pressure, with the safety valve loaded down; if one's happiness consisted in making visitors "stare" at their unprecedented stride of commercial advance, Chicago is the "Eureka." It is a capital place during the business hours, while Milwaukee offers far greater temptations for relief after the excitement of Change hour is over.

For the advantages under which your correspondent has seen Milwaukee, obligations should be rendered to Messrs. Hooker and Barclay, of the Chamber of Commerce, and to Gen. King, of the Sentinel, and Mr. Cramer of the Wisconsin, whose kind attentions have created a debt that shall be discharged, when opportunity shall offer to your friend.

OPINIONS OF THE (PEOPLE'S) PRESS.—Our city last evening was the scene of a brilliant and imposing display of torches, transparencies, fireworks, music, processions and every demonstration usual upon occasions of public rejoicing over the most important public triumphs. Yesterday was ushered in by the firing of cannon; all day men were rushing through the streets in hot haste, apparently intent upon the most weighty and absorbing interest; the railroads poured in hundreds of anxious and earnest men with glazed caps and capes, and the whole centered and culminated in the grand exhibition in the evening, which was the wonder and delight of all who witnessed it.—The show was well, civilly and peaceably conducted; strictly within the bounds of law and the rights of the people to assemble.—People's Press of Wednesday.

BOY LOST.—A boy named JOHN EDWARD PHIPPS, 11 years of age, was enticed away from home in this city, on the 8th inst., by a boy about 13 or 14 years of age, by the name of JOHN COONEY. Said PHIPPS is short and stout, with dark hair and eyes; was dressed with Kentucky Jean jacket, small plaid pants with stripes down the sides, black cloth cap, with dark blue band, and brown overcoat. Any information concerning said boy, addressed to Rev. J. C. RICHMOND, or to the People's Press, will confer a great favor upon a worthy and distressed family.

Milwaukee, Oct. 24, 1860.

NOT SATISFIED.—There is one man in Milwaukee who was not satisfied with the Republican demonstration of Wednesday night—that is, the editor of the News. He thinks that it was rather a small affair, and quite inferior to the Douglas demonstration. This being a free country, he is entitled to his opinion, and will, we hope, enjoy it.

NEW CLOTHING ESTABLISHMENTS.—There is a notice of a new clothing establishment in this morning's paper, to which attention is called. For gents' and furnishing goods, it promises to be a great acquisition.

CANDIDATES WITHDRAWING.—There was a rumor current on the streets, yesterday, that BRECKINRIDGE had withdrawn from the Presidential contest. Hereat the DOUGLAS men were jubilant. Then the story ran that both DOUGLAS and BRECKINRIDGE had withdrawn. Whereupon the BELL men went into ecstacies. The last shape the report took, was, that DOUGLAS, BRECKINRIDGE and BELL, had all three withdrawn. This would be so sensible a proceeding on their part, that many people gave credit to the story. Captain MARTIN SCOTT's famous "coon" established a precedent for three gentleman which they would do well to follow.

BOOKS RECEIVED FROM STRICKLAND & Co.—Curiosities of Natural History, by FRANCIS T. BUCKLAND M. A.—New York, RUDD & CARLTON. This highly interesting book is divided into the following four subjects:

1. A Geological Auction.
2. The Game Keeper's Museum.
3. In Memoriam.
4. A Hunt on the Sea-Shore.

We shall take pleasure in reviewing this work after a careful perusal.

POEMS BY SARAH GOULD; New York; RUDD & CARLTON. A very acceptable little volume to the many admirers of this talented poetess.

WHOLESALE GROCERY STORE.—N. G. BISHOP, No. 206 East Water street, has a card in our paper to-day, calling the attention of farmers and country dealers to his large stock of goods, comprising groceries, provisions, green and dried fruits, wooden and willow ware, &c.

Country merchants will be advancing their own interests by calling at BISHOP'S.

PROMPT.—The fellow who flung the missile at young WESTLAKE, on Wednesday night, during the Republican demonstration, was promptly "nabbed" by Chief of Police BECK, who escorted him to the station house in short order. If all our policemen had the same degree of ubiquity presented by our worthy chief—to say nothing of the energy—there would be less rowdyism.

FIRST AND SEVENTH WARDS—CAUCUSES TO-NIGHT.—The Republican Electors of the First and Seventh Wards are reminded that caucuses will be held in each Ward, to-night, to send delegates to the Senatorial Convention.

THIS MORNING CALEB WALL has two new advertisements. One is a sale on Saturday morning; the other is a great sale of furniture which takes place on Thursday morning, Nov. 1st. Read his advertisement and get posted.

THE GREAT HOLLAND REMEDY—BERNHAVE'S HOLLAND BITTERS.—Persons subject to nervous sick headache, will find in BERNHAVE'S Holland Bitters, a sure, safe and pleasant remedy. It soothes the throbbing head, corrects acidity of the stomach, assists digestion, and creates a healthy appetite. It is, without doubt, a most delightful preparation, and an effectual remedy. The fact that it is now a very popular medicine throughout all the Holland settlements in Wisconsin, New York, Michigan, Illinois and Indiana, speaks much in its favor. The Electoral Vote.

We have been requested by a correspondent to publish the number of electors that each State in the Union is entitled to, and some calculation based upon this as to the probable result of the election:

The following is the number of electors:

Alabama	9	Missouri	9
Arkansas	4	Minnesota	4
California	4	New Hampshire	5
Connecticut	6	New Jersey	7
Delaware	3	New York	35
Florida	3	South Carolina	10
Georgia	10	Ohio	23
Illinois	11	Oregon	3
Indiana	13	Pennsylvania	27
Iowa	4	Rhode Island	4
Kenuckty	12	South Carolina	8
Louisiana	6	Tennessee	12
Maine	8	Texas	4
Maryland	8	Vermont	5
Massachusetts	13	Virginia	15
Michigan	6	Wisconsin	5
Mississippi	7
		Total	303

The States that will probably go for LINCOLN and HAMLIN are—

New York	35	Indiana	13
Maine	8	Illinois	11
New Hampshire	5	Michigan	6
Vermont	5	Wisconsin	5
Massachusetts	13	Iowa	4
Connecticut	6	Minnesota	4
Rhode Island	4	California	4
New Jersey	7	Oregon	3
Pennsylvania	27
Ohio	23	Total	181

Necessary to a choice..152

This would give to LINCOLN a majority of twenty-nine electoral votes. If the Republicans carry New York, of course the election of LINCOLN is sure.

And as to New York, there is no more doubt than about Vermont, or Maine, or Wisconsin. The latest advices from there report from sixty to seventy-five thousand majority, sure, for LINCOLN.

For Milwaukee.

Over four hundred citizens of Madison—Wide Awakes and others—left for Milwaukee on the 12:30 train, to participate in the reception to Carl Schurz, and the Republican demonstration at Milwaukee this evening. There were nine car loads, six of them bearing the inscription, "Madison Wide Awakes," in large capitals.—Madison Journal.

Milwaukee owes Madison "one." We are indebted to our Republican brethren at the Capital for a very large and handsome addition to the brilliant display of Wednesday night. The Madison Wide Awakes elicited universal applause by their substantial look, large number and admirable drill. They took, as they deserved to do, the prize banner; and, on their return home yesterday, were escorted to the cars by a delegation of our Milwaukee Wide Awakes and a crowd of citizens. We trust that they carried away as agreeable an impression of their visit, as they left behind them.

THE CENSUS OF MICHIGAN.—In another column will be found the returns of the census of this State in a complete form, with the exception of two districts only, where estimates are made. The population of the whole State is 749,869, or 750,000 in round numbers, which the full returns from these two remaining districts will undoubtedly make it. In 1850 the population of the State was 397,654, and in 1854 it was 509,-374.—Detroit Free Press, Oct. 24th.

MICHIGAN and WISCONSIN keep even pace in their growth and development.—We have not yet the full returns of the census in this State; but the total population will range somewhere between 750,000 and 800,000. In 1850, it was 305,000 and in 1855 almost 550,000.

MECHANICS REMEMBER!—That the Democrats in the last Congress defeated the Tariff bill.

Remember that JAMES BUCHANAN vetoed the Homestead measures.

Remember that a pro-slavery, Democratic Senate kept Kansas out of the Union, because she desired to enter as a free State.

Keep these facts before the people.

THE GERMANS.—The Indiana Republican papers bear honorable and united testimony to the efficient aid rendered by the Germans in effecting the revolution in that State. The same class of freedom-loving citizens contributed in an equal degree to swell the Republican majorities in Pennsylvania. All honor to the Germans.

AN EDITOR SUMMARILY EJECTED.—The retiring editor of the Jackson county (Ind.) Union gives the following graphic account of how that paper happened to go for DOUGLAS:

"The press is owned by seven stockholders, each owning $100. I refused to sustain Douglas and Johnson for the Presidency, but preferred that better and more Democratic ticket—Breckinridge and Lane. The result is, that six of the stockholders caught me by the editorial back of the neck and seat of the breeches, and lifted me out of the concern."

THOSE ANSWERS AGAIN.—In October, 1854, Abraham Lincoln closed one of his ablest speeches on the then recent repeal of the Missouri Compromise and the man who perpetrated the deed, by saying that if Douglas would not admit the facts of history, and would continually fly from his own premises, no argument would put an end to his sophistries. "In that case," said Mr. L., "I can only commend to him the seventy thousand from Pennsylvania, Ohio and Indiana."

ECONOMY OF FUEL.—There are estimated to be 9,000 locomotives in use in the United States, their total annual mileage being about 175,000,000 miles. The average cost of fuel at ten cents a mile (the average in the State of New York is eighteen cents) would be $17,500,000. A saving of only two cents a mile in fuel, would reduce this sum $3,-500,000.

ACCIDENT TO A QUEEN.—The Queen of Spain met with an accident on the 22d of September, while travelling from Malion to Barcelona. She was on board the frigate Princesse des Asturias, when one of the poles supporting an awning erected for the occasion, on the deck, fell. The Queen received three wounds on the head, but the result was not serious.

MRS. ELEANOR LOVE WASHINGTON, wife of John A. Washington, (late of Mt. Vernon,) died at Warland, the residence of her husband, in Fauquier county, Va., on the 9th inst., in the 56th year of her age.

A Good Dialogue.

[The scene of the following Interesting Dialogue is that of two Farmers on opposite sides of a fence. Mr. Smith, who has beside him a basket of very small potatoes, is leaning on the fence looking wistfully over at Mr. Jones, who is digging a splendid crop of big Potatoes. A picture of the scene was prepared with the original dialogue, and should be here, but we have not the engraving at hand. The dialogue is pleasing and instructive, and should be read by every one.]

"The Potatoes, they are small,
Over there, over there."—Old Song.

Mr. Smith.—How is it, neighbor Jones, that your potatoes are so large and fine, while just over the fence, on similar soil, mine are as small as pullets' eggs, and precious few at that?

Mr. Jones—I manured this field with brains.

Mr. Smith—Pshaw. All the Cincinnati hog-killers couldn't supply brains enough for this ten-acre field.

Mr. Jones—I used human brains, of which there are plenty.

Mr. Jones—Nonsense—Now don't make fun of me because I'm unlucky, and Providence has sent you a good crop.

Mr. Jones—Providence helps those who help themselves. I use my own brains on this field.

Mr. Smith—So did I mine, and they are as good as anybody's.

Mr. Jones—Ah! there is the trouble. You know it all yourself; I don't and so I get all the outside help I can. I've been collecting other men's brains for my land for twenty years, and you see one result in this crop.

Mr. Smith—Yes, I see the result, but I don't understand it.

Mr. Jones—Well, when we began here 20 years ago, I thought myself a good farmer, but I believed others had good ideas, too, and I made it my business to get at their thoughts; some I found in agricultural books and papers others I picked up at the County Fairs, by asking how the big things were raised, and often I've got a good hint from a neighbor.

Mr. Smith—I've always been down on this "book farming," but your crops stagger me; they're real knock down arguments. I'm sick of the poor show I get for my work, and am desperate enough to try any thing for improvement.

Mr. Jones—I'll give you my experience; it may aid you. About nineteen years ago I heard that some men who had been brought up on farms had clubbed together, and one of them was going to publish a paper, which should consist mainly of accounts of how many different farmers cultivated various crops, and such like matters. I sent for the paper and have done so every year since, and now I have nineteen large volumes, every page of which I have read, a little at a time, and the whole has not cost the produce of a single acre. Why I am astonished when I think over the ten thousand thoughts, and hints, and suggestions I have thus gathered. What a blank would be left in my head, if these thoughts were taken away.

Mr. Smith—But does the practice of farmers on other kinds of soil and with different climate, suit your wants?

Mr. Jones—Why no, not exactly, perhaps. But then, every thought I get from another, starts a new thought in my own mind, and thus I am constantly improving my own skill and practice. You see, I get all the brains I can from other men's heads, and compost them well in my own head with a mixture of common sense, and then make the application to my fields. In that way I have manured this crop of potatoes with plenty of brains. The editor called here last week on his western tour among farmers, and seeing my good crops, he asked me to write out just how I have treated this field for years past, and I promised to do it as soon as my crops are gathered. He will probably print it, as he constantly prints all such practical matters, and perhaps a hundred thousand persons will read it; and though nobody else may do just as I do, many will get a new hint, and improve upon it. You may read it if you will.

Mr. Smith—I would like to borrow your paper.

Mr. Jones—Better take it yourself, for then you will be more likely to read it. You will find hundreds of plain talks about various kinds of crops, during a single year. One hint gave five bushels of corn on each acre of a large field in a single year.

Mr. Smith—I can't afford to take it this year.

Mr. Jones—You would think nothing of spending two cents a week for extra tobacco or a cigar, or candy, and that's all the paper will cost. How little a week it costs to supply yourself and family with a large amount of information through any good paper.

Mr. Smith—What are the politics of that paper?

Mr. Jones—It doesn't touch politics. It is devoted to such subjects as field and garden crops, animals, etc, and has, besides, a good deal about woman's work, which my wife says is worth more than ten times the few pounds of butter it costs to pay for the paper. There is also a department for the young folks containing many things which please the children—not mere trashy stuff, such as is too often printed for them, but information which will have a good influence on them. I would sell a dozen bushels of wheat to have my young people get the good reading in that paper, but the average price will pay for it a year. My John says that he can pay for it easy, with the eggs from two or three hens. If I was a mechanic or merchant and had only a little garden, I should take the paper to tell me how to make the best use of the little plot; and if I had not a foot of land I should still want it for my wife and children.

Mr. Smith—Does the editor know anything about farming?

Mr. Jones—The editor who owns and publishes the paper was brought up on a farm, where he learned to work. He has studied all the books on farming, and experimented for years in the laboratory, and has besides traveled all over the country to see what was doing. Then he has several associates—Farmers, Gardeners, and Housekeepers, who know what they write about, and among them all they do gather up a wonderful lot of information every year. The language, too, is so plain, so like talking with you, that I enjoy reading it. Then, too, every paper has engravings, which show one exactly how animals and plants, and implements, and household furniture look, much better than words could describe them.—Among these are plans of buildings, that help one to plan others; and also many very fine large pictures, which are worth more than the cost of a whole volume.

Mr. Smith—I suppose that those engravings and descriptions are partly to help the editor sell implements or fertilizers.

Mr. Jones—Not at all. The editor keeps nothing of the sort to sell, so that he may be perfectly free to praise or condemn anything, according as it may be valuable or worthless to his readers. You would laugh to see how he comes down on poor inventions, patent manures, and all kinds of humbugs.

Mr. Smith—Is the paper adapted to our part of the country?

Mr. Jones—Exactly. Soils and crops and climate differ, but the general principles of cultivation are the same everywhere, and here is the benefit of a paper published for the whole country. Every reader gets new ideas by learning what is done somewhere else; and further, I find that the paper has letters from every part of the country, and one or more associated editors in different sections, so that we get information from many regions, and our own too. One thing I must mention particularly. The editor is constantly warning his readers against humbugs, telling how sharpers take the advantage of people. Why I was just going to send a dollar for an article advertised in glowing colors, when I found it shown up as a humbug in this paper. But I can not stop to talk more now—I have such a lot of potatoes to harvest.

Mr. Smith—I wish I had. I must try that paper, and see what is in it. I can manage to save two cents a week.

Mr. Jones—Never fear. If you don't find it pays, I'll buy your copies at cost, for my boys to keep.

Mr. Smith—What did you say the paper is called?

Mr. Jones—The American Agriculturist. It is published in New York City. The editor, though one of our country farmers, and living in the country, finds he can publish it cheaper there, where printing, and paper, and mailing facilities are all convenient.

Mr. Smith—How shall I get it?

Mr. Jones—Simply inclose a dollar bill in a letter, giving your name, Post Office, County, and State plainly, and direct to ORANGE JUDD, 41 Park Row, New York City.

Mr. Smith—When does a volume begin?

Mr. Jones—The twentieth volume begins January 1st, but all who send in the dollar now, get the remaining numbers of this year, in addition to the whole of next year's. So if you subscribe now, you get fourteen months' papers. The proprietor also offers some valuable premiums to those who get up lists of subscribers. Send for the paper, and you may afterwards find it well worth while to make up a club. Some 1700 persons have got good premiums in this way during two years. Some of your German neighbors would join you, perhaps, for the Agriculturist is printed separately in German. I did intend to start a club myself, but I have so many potatoes to dig, I cannot get the time. My sister-in-law in Iowa, got up a club last year, and received a premium of a $60 Wheeler & Wilson sewing machine, an old acquaintance in Wisconsin got two or three good farming implements, and a young nephew of mine in Ohio got a beautiful copy of Webster's great Dictionary. These things only cost them a little time, showing the paper evenings and election day. Send in your subscription and the first paper will tell you all about the premiums. I forgot to tell you that every year the pulisher also sends out to all his subscribers who want them a lot of choice garden and field seeds.

Mr. Smith—What does he charge for them?

Mr. Jones—Nothing; they are sent free, except the postage. They are of the best kind, and one single parcel I got last year was worth more to me than the price of the paper.

Mr. Smith—I'll try it a year, any way; if half what you say is true, it will be a good investment.

Mr. Jones—You'll find every word I have said true.

Mr. Smith—I'll send this very night, while in the spirit of it.

Mr. Jones—Do it, and you'll always thank me for this talk. Good day, I must hurry up digging my potatoes, I've such a lot of them—thanks to a hint in the Agriculturist.

Mr. Smith—How did you say I should direct the letter containing the dollar?

Mr. Jones—To Orange Judd, 41 Park Row, New York City.

A TRULY ROMANTIC DUEL was lately fought in the environs of the not very romantic capital of Prussia. A young lady, it is stated, of good family, having accidentally come into possession of a challenge addressed to her lover, resolved upon withholding the letter and fighting herself. Incredible as it may appear, this intention she carried out. Dressed in manly habiliments, she met the challenger in the Jungfern Haide, a forest in the neighborhood of the capital, and her opponent having but once seen, and that imperfectly at night, the man who had offended him, unconsciously accepted the new comer as his legitimate foe.—Distances were measured, seconds placed, pistols fired, when the lady came off scatheless, after wounding her antagonist in the shoulder The name of the fighting fair is unknown, but a judicial inquiry having been set on foot concerning the crime of "intentional manslaughter," the details of the affair will probably soon gratify the curiosity of the public.

DEATH OF A TENNESSEE HERMIT.—The McMinnville (Tenn.) New Era announces the death, on the 23d ult., of Daniel West, the well-known hermit of the mountains, at the age of seventy-eight. He had lived for a number of years in the hollow of a large American poplar tree, in the opening of which he had fitted a rude door. In the centre of this hollow he would build his fire in winter and for cooking his plain meals.—This hollow also served as his sleeping apartment, and it is said he slept in a sitting posture, reclining against the wall of his house. Adjoining or near to this tree he had a rude shed which he used as a work-shop, where he manufactured chairs, boxes, cider mills, &c. He was a North Carolinian by birth, and was a soldier in the war of 1812. He was at the Mobile station when the battle of New Orleans was fought.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

THERE IS A RARE OPPORTUNITY for a good BLACKSMITH and a good SHOEMAKER to establish themselves in a lucrative business, in the town of Hersey ville, in Monroe County, Wisconsin. It is located on the line of the LaCrosse & Milwaukee Railroad, in the heart of the famous La Crosse Valley, one of the pleasantest and healthiest parts of the State. Being a new place, the owner of the lands in the vicinity of the depot proposes to furnish building lots for shops and dwellings, to a limited number, FREE, so as to enable some industrious, but poor mechanics, an excellent chance to better their immediate prospects. The place is thriving, and has, at present, some two or three hundred farmers within five miles; and two good water-powers within half a mile of the depot; have no post office now, but soon. Large quantities of wheat are shipped daily from this station.

Any communications to the undersigned will be promptly attended to. C. M. BERSEY,

"Keep it Before the People."

The following noble song was written by Hon A. J. DUGANNE, of New York, formerly a member of the Legislature of New York, and a poet of well-earned reputation:

Keep it before the people!
That Earth was made for Man!
That flowers were strown,
That fruits were grown,
To bless and never to ban.
That sun and rain,
And corn and grain,
Are yours and mine, my brother!
Free gifts from heaven,
And freely given
To one as well as another!

Keep it before the people!
That man is the image of God!
His limbs or soul,
By you or control
With shackle, or shame, or rod!
We may not be sold
For silver or gold,
Neither you nor I, my brother!
For freedom was given
By God, from heaven,
To one as well as another.

Keep it before the people!—
That famine, and crime, and woe,
Forever abide
Still side by side,
With luxury's dazzling show!
That Lazarus crawls
From Dives' hall,
And starves at his gates, my brother!
Yet life was given
By God, from heaven,
To one as well as another.

Keep it before the people!
That the poor man claims his meed,
The right of toil,
And the right of toil,
From spur and bridle freed!
The right to bear,
And the right to share
With you and me, my brother!
Whatever is given
By God, from heaven,
To one as well as another.

The Palace of Wolsey at the Tomb of Washington.

BY J. GARBER.

The years are Truth's avengers! Broad and grand
They make their path through Error's realm of Night—
Bearing bright torches in their lifted hands,
And crowning Virtue with transcendant light!
The murky clouds of Prejudice divide,
And a new era dawns upon the Earth,
As bends the loyalty of Fact and Pride
Before the mighty Royalty of Worth!
Lo! where a Guelph, to Sovereign Greatness fast,
Bares his young brow beside our Hero's dust!

Yes, the great grandson of the madman King,
Who set a price upon the Rebel's head,
Plants 'neath the shadow of our Eagle's wing
A votive tree to the Deliverance, dead.
Send is forgot, and ancient wrong forgiven;
The ties of kin are strengthened and renewed,
And Freedom's Martyrs, from their homes in Heaven,
Smile on the pledge of new-born brotherhood,
As bends old England—by her royal Son—
Uncrowns her head to buried Washington.

THE GUEST CHAMBER AT THE INN OF ST. IVES.

FROM THE JOURNAL OF A DETECTIVE.

[CONCLUDED.]

"Now that I think of it, it does, as I live," the sub-agent thoughtfully replied. "But what do you argue from this fact?"

"I will draw my inference in a moment.—You will remember the circumstance of M. Lemaro counting his money in the diligence in our presence—this morning we have seen his dead body lying in the public street, rifled of the money. There is now one question in my mind. Did or did not M. Lemare lodge in this house last night?"

"The landlord told me that he did not."

"So he told me—but I prefer to investigate for myself. We had it last night from Lemare's own lips, that it was his intention to stay at this inn until morning, and I am inclined to the belief that he did put up here last night, notwithstanding that nobody appears to have seen him within the house. It is probable that he retired immediately to his room, and communicated with no one but the innkeeper or one of the servants. Now, Monsieur Berret, let me recur to a circumstance which happened in the diligence which I think escaped your notice.—Just as M. Auguste was replacing his pocket-book, I happened to glance behind me, and then saw an object which instantly attracted my attention. It was a man, bent forward in eager attitude, his eyes intently fixed upon the operations of M. Auguste. I quickly became aware that I was watching him, and shrank back out of sight, but not before I had observed his face. I have seen it again this morning—it is that of Antoine, the hostler."

"This is truly an important discovery," the sub-agent observed.

"But this is not all. Last night I heard a groan from the chamber adjoining mine. The discovery of this morning, considered with those others of which I have been telling you, leads me to believe that this was the death groan of M. Auguste Lemare. In any event, you can draw your own inferences. It is a fact conclusive that the unfortunate man retired to bed in the next chamber. Whether or not he ever left it alive, is a question which, in my mind, admits of but little doubt."

"Do you then really mean to say that your belief is that M. Lemare was murdered under this roof?"

"I am positive of it, and not only he, but each of the other victims. And I am also induced to believe that every one of these midnight assassinations have been committed in the adjoining chamber."

"I have no doubt that you have arrived at the truth," the sub-agent replied. "And now what do you propose to do first? Would it not be better to arrest this innkeeper and his hostler at once?"

"By no means, M. Berret. I think that would be an extremely injudicious step. What I have been telling you are only conjectures of my own, which though probably true in almost every particular, would, I greatly fear, avail little as proof to charge the villainous innkeeper and his servant (who, beyond all question, are the criminals) with these crimes. There is one decisive step to be taken; I propose to pass the night in this mysterious chamber."

Monsieur Berret heard my quietly spoken words, and looked perfectly aghast with astonishment.

"What, Guillot! are you mad?" he exclaimed. "Pass the night in that infernal slaughter house? Why, are you tired of life? Consider the danger of the thing, and the great loss to the service which your death would occasion."

The earnest anxiety with which this last remonstrance was uttered was so perfectly ludicrous that I refrained with difficulty from laughing outright. But I soon succeeded in silencing his objection, if not in satisfying his scruples:

"You have, I believe," I then remarked, "a considerable amount of money with you."

"Yes. Mon Dieu! had this rascally landlord known it last night, I might now be as cold as poor Lemare! Can it answer you any purpose?"

"A very important one. Lend me your pocket-book."

Still holding it in my hand, I descended the stairs, the sub-agent closely following me. The innkeeper was sitting behind his bar, seemingly half asleep and half awake, but the instant he saw the pocket-book, his eyes lighted up with an eager gleam, and he watched my motions with strict attention.

"The amount is correct," I said aloud to M. Berret. "Two thousand francs—this, then, discharges the debt." Then walking up to the bar, I said to the innkeeper: "The room which you have given me does not suit me in the least—have you not a larger one where I can lodge?"

"Yes, monsieur," the man replied, with remarkable alacrity, "I should have spoken of it myself. There is a large and pleasant chamber next to the one in which you slept last night—do me the favor to occupy it as long as you please."

"You had better decline before it is too late," M. Berret whispered in my ear. "I fear you will not occupy it for more than one night. If you do, you will accomplish what no person has yet done."

"Show me the room," I calmly replied, paying no attention to the anxious whispers of the sub-agent.

There seemed nothing remarkable about the room when we first entered it. It was a trifle larger than the other chambers of the house, and the furniture was of a more antique pattern, especially the high posted bedstead.

"I think this will answer," I said, after surveying the apartment and its belongings.

"Will you lodge here to-night, then, monsieur?"

"Certainly. The room suits me in every particular."

If the dark-browed host had entertained any suspicions of my intentions, they were certainly by this time entirely dissipated; and he left the room, I have no doubt, gratified in the depth of his black heart, that another victim was to fall so easily into his trap.

"You are determined on this step, I perceive, M. Berret remarked after he had gone. "Well, I will not attempt to dissuade you, since I know you cannot be moved, but I promise you, should you be missing in the morning, I will burn the old rookery to the ground, and hang the villainous inn-keeper upon his sign-post so surely as I shall myself live till then."

"Take whatever steps you please when you find me missing, M. Berret—until then leave the matter in my hands. But there is one material service which you must not fail to render me. You will, if you please, conceal yourself with two or three trusty men, in the room next to this, which I occupied last night, and there await my signal. When you hear from me, you will instantly rush in and assist me to secure whatever you may find."

These arrangements were, at the proper time put fully into operation. An evening drew on, I saw that the sub-agent and his allies were properly secreted, and first enjoining vigilance upon them, I entered the mysterious and fatal guest-chamber. The lamp which I carried served to reveal every part of it, and I quickly became aware that there was nothing unusual about the appearance of the room. It was very much such a bed-chamber as might be met with in almost every village inn. Nevertheless, I resolved to put no faith in appearance, and immediately I commenced a systematic examination. I searched every where—under the bed, in the closet and behind the window-curtains—but my search revealed nothing. It was certain that no one was concealed in the room, and there, as certainly, seemed no place of ingress, save the door. I was beginning to become anxious. I reflected that the danger might come upon me unexpectedly, and from an unexpected source. I sat down, and for an hour I waited—waited in restless expectancy for the appearance of the assassin—but still I waited in vain. Looking at my watch, I perceived that it was nearly midnight. My unaccustomed vigil had wearied me, and placing my pistols beneath the pillow, I lay down upon the bed without removing my clothes. I was not long in discovering that this bed was of a somewhat singular construction—the formation of the top being rather concave than otherwise, and so adjusted that the occupant could not possibly rest in any other way than upon his back, in the middle.

Upon his back! That seemed rather a singular discovery to make just at that moment.—Had not every one of the murdered men been stabbed through the back? Yes—and each one of them must have received his death wound while lying in this very bed just as I—

Three sharp, distinct sounds, apparently close at hand, interrupted my reflections; I knew their meaning in an instant—those sounds needed no interpreter. I rose quickly and silently, grasping my pistols, awaited the next movement of the unseen assassin. Click—click. That noise again, and now like the croaking of a hinge. Next there was a shuffling sound which made me aware that there was a man beneath the bed—and the next instant I saw the blade of a dagger driven up through the thin mattress, in the very place where I had been lying! I gave a low groan, which was answered by a chuckle from beneath the bed.

"An easy death! Now for the spoils," I heard the same voice say. At the same instant the head and shoulders of the inn-keeper were thrust out from the bed-hangings. Covering him with the muzzle of one of my pistols, I said:

"Come forth, sir, and deliver yourself up! Your innocent guest is no other than a detective officer! Don't attempt to escape—I shall certainly fire if you do!"

But he did try, and I speedily sent a pistol ball after him. The report was succeeded by a deep groan, and instantly M. Berret and his assistants rushed in. A hasty search was sufficient to discover the landlord under the bed weltering in his blood, and the hostler was seized before he had an opportunity to close the secret panel in the wall, through which he attempted to escape.

This panel, as a short search disclosed to us, opened directly into a hollow partition, which communicated with a lower room. By means of this strange contrivance, the assassins had always been able to enter this particular chamber at any time—and once through the panel without having disturbed the unsuspecting sleeper, their work was easily done. The bed was, as I have said, constructed in such a manner that a sleeper could maintain only one position in it—a hole had been worked for the passage of the dagger, and a powerful thrust had been, in every instance, enough to transfix the heart of the victim. After riding the body of everything valuable, the murderers were accustomed to carry it out in the darkness of the night and leave it in one of the public streets of the town. And so adroitly had this game been played, that no shadow of suspicion had attached to the real criminals.

The inn-keeper recovered from the wound which I gave him, but it was only, together with his partner in guilt, the hostler, to receive one of a much more serious character from the hands of the executioner.

The health of Vera Cruz and the U. S. Squadron was very good.

Washington Matters.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25—8 P. M.

The position of the P. O. Department is this: The public demands facilities like those in London and Paris. The Department, anxious to grant them, claims that it can be done only by having a monopoly of the business, which it is now endeavoring to secure by the enforcement of the laws against private expenses. The opposition with which it meets occasions much embarrassment.

The Secretary of the Navy has directed the Commander of the Navy Yard at Pensacola, to investigate the charge recently made through the newspapers, against Vliet Stark, of the marine corps, of punishing men by crucifixion.

Sad Accident.

SCRANTON, Pa., Oct. 25—8 P. M.

A horrible accident occurred at 12 o'clock to-day, at Fort Griffith, between Pittston and Wilkesbarre, at the Pennsylvania Coal Company's works. Eight men were instantly killed, two are not expected to live, and the balance were saved by jumping from the car.

Fire at Leavenworth.

LEAVENWORTH, K. T., Oct. 24.

A fire at 3 o'clock this morning destroyed eight or ten frame buildings on northeast corner of Third and Shawnee streets. With two exceptions the buildings were of no great value. The stocks were mostly removed with but little damage. The total loss will probably amount to $10,000, on which there is less than $2,000 insurance, $1,000 of which is in the Western Massachusetts Company, and the remainder divided between several other Companies. The fire originated accidentally in a furniture store.

LATEST NEWS!

BY LAST NIGHT'S REPORT

Later from California—Arrival of the Pony Express.

ST. JOSEPH, Oct. 25—9 P. M.

The Pony Express, with San Francisco dates to the 14th inst., arrived here this morning.

There is no general news of importance. The political canvass engrosses universal attention.

The anxiety to hear returns from Pennsylvania, Ohio and Indiana is becoming intense, and the Republicans are fearful that Pennsylvania will go Democratic.

Gov. Downey, who has been stumping the State for Douglas, expresses the opinion that California will go for Douglas by a large majority, and that the Breckinridge ticket will run behind the Republican. It is believed that the Bell-Everett men will mostly vote for Douglas.

Senator Gwyn and General J. McDougal, have been making speeches nightly, abusive of each other; each accusing the other of dishonestly representing California at Washington.

The Douglas papers of Oregon are very bitter in denouncing the coalition by which a Republican Senator was elected. The President of the Senate, a Douglas Democrat, has been burnt in effigy.

Relief for the Destitute.

ATCHISON, K. T., Oct. 25—9 P. M.

Seventeen thousand pounds of flour, corn meal and potatoes arrived to-day from Illinois, and several teams from the destitute portion of southern Kansas, which were in waiting, were loaded and started for their destination. There has previously arrived and been distributed from this part, five hundred bushels of corn and twenty thousand pounds of flour, groceries, potatoes, &c., most of which were sent to the Neosho country.

A New Counterfeit.

OMAHA, Oct. 25—9 P. M.

A bold counterfeiter appersonating himself as L. D. Spaulding, passed upon Messrs. Barrows, Millard & Co., Bankers in this city, on the 20th inst, thirteen hundred and twenty-five dollars in counterfeit ten dollar bills, upon the Bank of the Interior Albany, New York, for which he received their drafts on Gilman, Son & Co., N. Y., for one thousand one hundred dollars, and two hundred twenty-five dollars. It is supposed he has gone East. Bell & Co. have stopped payment of the same. The counterfeit is well executed and calculated to deceive the best judges.

New York Matters.

NEW YORK, Oct. 25—9 P. M.

MONETARY.

THURSDAY P. M., October 25, 1860.

The money market continues easy. Currency is abundant, and Eastern Exchange in fair supply, selling at ¼ cent premium at the banks, and ⅜@½ below the current rate on the street.

CHICAGO MONEY MARKET.

The Press & Tribune of this morning says:

Owing to a decline in breadstuffs, there was a better demand for currency to-day, and the various bankers in the city were pretty closely pushed to meet the requirements of the commercial public. Eastern exchange was consequently easier, and the buying rates ranged from ¾@⅞ ₱ cent premium. The selling rate at the banks, however, is still 1 ₱ cent.

NEW YORK MONEY MATTERS.

We have the following by telegraph from New York to-day, in reference to money and stocks:

Money easy at 6 per cent, with something doing at 5% on call. Stocks rather better and more active, and closed with less demand. C & R I 64½; I C bds 95½; M S 2d bds 69; C B & Q 83; M & M 12½; I Scrip 76; G & C 73; M C 69¾. At the second Board stocks were lower and dull; especially western shares; C & R I 64¾; C & P 35; M S 17¾; M C 69¾; H 17¾; C B & Q 91½; Pan 1,81¾; G & C 71½; I C scrip 75¾ Harl pfd 93¾; Had 57¾; Erie 22¾; D & H 95; Erie 1st bonds 1,06¾; Ohio 6's 98—1,01¾.

THURSDAY P. M., Oct. 25, 1860.

Owing to some confusion in the way-bills we have the receipts of only two of the Railroads to-day, but we understand that the total receipts of wheat were about 70,000. The shipments were also light to-day as will be seen by the following statement:

SHIPMENTS OF FLOUR, WHEAT & PROVISIONS FOR 24 HOURS.

The wheat market was firmer to-day, owing to more activity at New York, and on Chicago freights declining lc prices improved to that extent as compared with the closing quotations of yesterday afternoon. Receivers, however, encouraged by the improved aspect of the market, were looking for a further improvement, and buyers being unwilling to come up to the outside figures asked, the amount of business done was trifling. The sales in all did not exceed 30,000 bushels at 85@86c for No. 1 spring in store; 85@84c for No. 2 in store; and 86@88c for club delivered in bags—the market closing tolerably firm at the outside quotations. The market being now regulated to a great extent by rates of carriage between Lake ports and the East, it certainly behooves dealers in the country to operate with some degree of caution, for although buyers who charter vessels here to-day, it can afford to pay 86c for No. 1 wheat to load them, should freights advance 2c to-morrow, buyers in the country who purchase on the same basis, would be likely to find their margin wiped out.—We do not assume to say whether freights are going to be higher or lower than at present. Opinions differ somewhat on that question, but the majority of dealers are evidently think that an advance is more likely than a further decline, and in view of the immense stocks on hand here and at Chicago, the continuance of liberal receipts, and the near approach to the close of navigation, the former opinion certainly appears the more plausible of the two. Flour was less active than yesterday, but unchanged. A few lots of very choice country extra were taken at $4,00 on board

Grain freights declined 1c, but in the afternoon there were no unengaged vessels in port. The schooners Kenosha, Mary M. Scott, and brig Mohegan were chartered to load for Buffalo at 17c.

EXPORTS OF BREADSTUFFS.

The exports of flour and wheat from New York for the week ending, Oct. 18th, were we believe, without precedent. The quantity of flour was 90,859 bbls. and of wheat 505,941 bushels—equal to 1,351,289 bus. of wheat. The exports were mainly to England; to London, 24,589 bbls. flour, and 117,252 bus. wheat; to Liverpool 21,420 bbls. flour, and 472,492 bus. wheat; to Glasgow, 5,363 bbls. flour, and 178,000 bus. wheat. Cork took 55,000 bus. wheat, Bristol 20,000 bus. Glocester 25,000 bus. Galway 20,000 bus. and Harve 18,000 bus. The Colonies took 15,000 bbls. flour, Bristol 1,500 bbls. Australia 4,400 bbls. Africa 1,600 do. Venezuela 2,000.

CHICAGO MARKET, OCTOBER 24.

The receipts at Chicago yesterday included: 5,624 bbls flour; 90,064 bus wheat; 18,776 bus corn; 4,621 bus oats; 2,264 rye; 2,272 bus barley. In reference to the market the Press & Tribune says:

The receipts of wheat to-day were only 90,064 bus, and the shipments 113,418 bus. Notwithstanding this exhibit, however, as soon as the steamer was telegraphed, the market opened heavy and 1@2c lower, at which there was more activity. About 100,000 bus changed hands at 83¾@84¾c for Northwestern Club; 84@85¾c for No. 2 spring; and 86@90c for rejected—the market closing firm but quiet at 1c for No 2 spring and 81c for No. 1 do. The floor market was heavy, and we note a further decline of 10@15c, with sales of about 2,000 bbls at $4,30@4,50 for fair to good spring extra. Sales were better, where was a better grade, and prices advanced ¾@1c—about 50,000 bus being sold at 35c for No. 2 canal afloat; 34@35c for No. 1 in store; 33@34c for No. 2; and 30c for rejected. New rejected corn was in limited quantity at 25@26c in store. Oats were dull, with sales of 9,000 bus at 17c for No. 1 in store; and 19¾@18½ afloat. Rye was quiet and unchanged—49c being the current price for No. 1 in store. Barley dull, with sales for good and choice parcels—the sales of No. 2 being at 43c in store and fair to good by samples at 95@55c on track. Timothy seed was firm, with sales at $2,15@2,25. Highwines 19 to 19½c. Alcohol steady at 45 to 46c. Hides steady. Broom corn is in large supply, and the market very dull.

The market for best cattle was quiet—the weather being too warm for packers. There was no visible change, however, except for the worst stock, which were dull and lower. There was a fair shipping demand for hogs at the previous decline, but the market at the close tended downward—the sales ranging from $4,55 to $5,35.

Freights were rather easier at the opening, and two vessels were engaged at 16c for wheat to Buffalo, and 24c from Milwaukee to Oswego—but at the close no more could be had at 17c.

INSPECTION OF CORN.—The Board of Trade, by a recent resolution, have repealed the former rules with regard to the inspection of corn, and established new rules as follows: "Pure White," "Pure Yellow," "Mixed," and "Rejected."

The names of the grades indicate the quality, and as the former can save at least 3c ₱ bus by keeping the pure white and yellow corn separate, we have no doubt but they will make an effort to do so.

ST. LOUIS MARKET, Oct. 22.

From the Democrat of Tuesday morning:

FLOUR—The market is dull with no shipping or speculative demand for round lots, except at prices much below holders' views, and business is consequently of a limited character. MARINE ITEMS.

FREIGHT ACCUMULATING.

The Detroit Advertiser of Saturday says: "Every means of transportation of freight from this point is made use of, and yet there is no insufficiency. Produce is accumulating for the East, in spite of the numerous steamers that are constantly plying, and all loaded to their utmost capacity.

Nine steamers are engaged exclusively in the Lake Superior trade, and yet shippers have found themselves obliged to charter sail vessels to relieve themselves of the pressure. A few days since the propeller Wabash Toll-y was dispatched, and we understand that the propeller Montgomery will be, on her next arrival here from Buffalo."

DISASTERS.?

Vessels which were out in the recent northwest storms report the gale violent in the extreme. The schooner Lucia Cass, bound from Cleveland to this port with a cargo of coal, lost part of her deck load, carried away the loss of her iron-gaff, and otherwise experienced rough usage.

The schooner Free Trader, in the same storm, deep loaded with coal, met also with narrow escapes, but finally reached here safe enough.—Det. Free Press, Oct. 24th.

REPAIRED.

The schooner Curtiss, which has been detained here a few days for repairs, has completed them, and took her departure for Buffalo yesterday afternoon.—Ib.

ASHORE.

The schooner Grace Murray, upward bound, went ashore during the heavy blow of last Saturday night on the south side of Point au Peles, with a cargo of coal. The tug Reindeer has gone to her assistance. The weather at present is favorable for getting her off.—Ib.

PASSED DETROIT.

The following is a list of vessels that passed Detroit on Tuesday:

Up—Steamer Forest Queen; propr. Akron, Buentah; brigs New York, Mt. Cross; schrs. Somerset, Elva, Hazard, W. Barclay, Two Brothers, Planet, Lewis Cass, Free Trader.

Down—Prop. Illinois; schooners Augusta, Conter t, Cuba.

GONE TO PIECES.

The schr. W. A. Adair, bound to Buffalo from Erie, put back, leaking, to Dunkirk, and was run ashore to prevent her sinking. She has since gone to pieces.—Buffalo Express, Tuesday.

THE RAILROAD WAR!
Judge Miller vs. the Supreme Court!
CAN'T FIGHT ON AN EMPTY STOMACH.
THE PRESS ON THOMSON'S EATING HOUSE.
THE POPULAR EATING HOUSE, AND the best known one all over the State is Thomson's, at Hartford, on the La Crosse Railroad. We don't know where a better lunch can be had at a fairer price. Just a quarter, and Thomson's face of itself, is worth more to look at, in these glum times, than a week's board at an ordinary hotel.—Green Bay Advocate.

The Hartford Coffee House.—People traveling upon the Milwaukee & Minnesota R. R., who neglect to stop into Thomson's Coffee House at Hartford, and get a "square meal," a cup of "Burnham & Morrill" doughnut and piece of pie, lose a great deal more than the "quarter" they have to pay for all these articles. Thomson sees everything in the cars, and is always glad to see his friends.—Portage City Record.

THOMSON'S EATING HOUSE, HARTFORD.—The Kilbourn City Mirror says what is true in the following, that for the price for breakfast or dinner when the cars stop at Hartford, on the La Crosse Railroad, and, good as the dinner was, we are going to give the proprietor a puff gratis, that he can't sell it in the market, the worst biscuit, the tried cakes, the eggs, the pound cake, the butter, the pie, the coffee and all the rest of the edibles couldn't be beat in this country, or any of the other thirty-two that form this American Union—and all for the trifling sum of seventy five cents.—Daily Wisconsin.

THE HARTFORD COFFEE HOUSE.—We have always noticed that travelers on the Milwaukee & Mississippi railroad are anxious for the train upon which they are riding to arrive at Hartford station. The reason of this is plainly explained by the fact that Thomson has a Coffee House there, where that fragrant beverage can be obtained in its true style, prepared and served up under Thomson's own immediate supervision. Thomson knows well how to do the thing up, and always succeeds in pleasing the taste of such of the hungry passengers as have a large share of custom.—Milwaukee News.

THOMSON'S EATING HOUSE.—At Hartford, on the La Crosse and Milwaukee R. R., live the jolliest, best natured, broadest faced, longest laughing, best feeling, coolest talking man in the whole State. His name is Thomson. His dispensary pies and cakes and boiled ham rivals, and doughnuts, and sour coffee, and sweetness, and lots of such et cæteras to hungry passengers. His style for all a man can eat is but two shillings, and he who quibbles not at Thomson's rewards will now to perceive this life, or to enjoy the luxuries of this world.—La Crosse Union & Democrat.

Great Saving in Gas!
FROM
30 to 35 Per cent Economy Warranted
TO CONSUMERS.
MR. PETER FONTAIN, OWNER OF the Patent in all United States of America for GAS REGULATOR AND PURIFYER,
having sold that patent for the State of Wisconsin and Northern Illinois, to the undersigned, I have established this location, because I think it preferable for the auction business to any other in the city. Good and convenient rooms, where I can now am, which pass no other in the city, for it is well known that every person runs to the Post Office, first thing in the morning. Therefore, Dry Goods and Shoes, Furniture, or Apples, or anything whatever, that they want to dispose of at auction, to send to me, and I will use my utmost endeavors to dispose of all goods consigned to me to the best advantage, and prompt returns will be made. I have been engaged in the auction business in this city for thirteen years, and I have tried to do what is right unto all.

I also continue my Land Agency business. My office is in the rear of my store, entrance on Main St. I will attend to all sales of Real Estate either at public or private sale. I will make exchange of real estate with all who want to exchange. Any who have goods to exchange for real estate, in the city or country, I can always get them up a good trade and some money with it; probably there was never as favorable a time to exchange lands as the present. Prices of lots in our city are very low; lands adjoining our city are exceedingly low, compared to four years past. In a few years prices will not last long, and it is generally believed by all who have lived as long in the West as I have, that such a splendid opening for business will not be given to buyers as at present.

This is the time to secure you a good homestead. Now is the time for investments. I call upon all who have property to dispose of to leave a list of the same with me. Please keep a register ready for that purpose, which will be exposed to the inspection of all, from day to day. I shall keep myself posted on real estate in Milwaukee, and I defy any man in the country to "come it over me." I shall be happy to give information to all who may wish it.
